"For many years Wheeling has had an advantage of this city in the manufacture of nails," said one of the heavlest producers of Pittsburgh, according to the Chronicle-Telegraph of last even-ing. "In the first place bar iron was sold as tow as $1 65, and nails were sold as low as $1 60. Ho far as wages per scale are concerned, they are now nearly equalized, and it may be possible the Pittshurgh manufacturers will be able to resume nail-making this fall.

"I cannot tell you now whether we will resume or not. We are not ready to talk to our men yet, but when we do, if they are willing to make a few modifications we will start our machines and continue to run them as long as we can fications we will start our machines and continue to run them as long as we can make both ends meet. There is now no combination on cut nails, and the price is largely controlled by the wire nail. But on the other hand, the price of the wire nail largely depends on the cut article. If we are able to sell our nails cheap, wire nails must come down, and vice versa. Taking it all in all, however, the new gauge gives us a greater advantage. the new gauge gives us a greater advan-tage than we have had since the wire ngil became a factor in the market, and we may yet be able to make things boom."

WON'T JOIN THE TRUST.

The Pittsburgh Natl Manufacturers Op-posed to the Wheeling Combine. Pittsburgh Times.

The cut nail trust proposed at th meeting of manufacturers in Wheeling on Wednesday is not regarded with much favor by the Pittsburgh nail manufacturers, and it is improbable that they will enter inter into any pooling ar rangement, although they are willing to agree to fix upon a card rate and main-tain it. Joseph D. Weeks, of the American Manufacturer, who was secretary of the defunct Western Nail Association can Manufacturer, who was secretary of the definet Western Nail Association, said yesterday on this subject:

"There was a good pool among the Wheeling and other Western nail mills to maintain prices by restricting production. This went to pleces under the action of certain Wheeling mills, which refused to be longer bound. The movement now on foot is to enable the cut nail to compete with the wire nail, by reducing the gauge of the plate, and also the formation of a trust. At heat, the chances are that any relief which these propositions may give would only be temporary. The fact is that the capacity for the production of cut nails is much too large for any probable demand in the near fature, and that the wire nail is supplanting the cut nail, notwithstanding the repeated assertions of the nail manufacturers that the cut nail is better than the wire nail.

"Some nail makers are realizing the facilities of the near fature of the profile."

There was terrific fight yesterday in an East Wheeling saloon. Tom Hichards, an employe of the Whittaker mill who lives on the Island, and another iron worker who is said to be from New Castle, whose name none of the witnesses seemed to know, had an altereation and both went down. The other fellow got Richards' car between his teeth and actually hit a big piece out of it. The ear presented a frightful appearance. Dr. Frissel, ir., dressed it. The offense is a felony under the State law, but so far as could be learned no arrest was made.

better than the wire mail.

"Some nail makers are realizing the futility of further endeavors to benefit the market by any of these temporary devices, awa are looking for other products into which to put the output of the puddling furnages."

At Chess, Cook & Cook a gentleman stated that they had very little faith in the ability of the Wheeling firms to bolster up the markets, and that the Anchor Nail Company is working more on spikes, etc., than the regular sizes of cut nails.

The Jerome McCormick Case.

There can no longer be any doubt that there was a spike placed in one of the joints of the Elm Grove Railroad where Jerome McCormick was seen leaning over the rail Wednesday evening. The spike was found. It shows marks of having been driven in the crack with a lime stone. The theory now is that it was for this purpose McCormick was carrying the stone seen in his hand, and not to throw at Conductor Kindleberger. The spike was found soon after the motor struck it, but the prosecution did not know of it till yesterday. One of the joints of the rails also plainly shows that the spike was driven into it. The appearance of the case is entirely changed by these discoveries.

By telephone and telegraph, Fulton, Elm Grove and other points in the near vicinity were inquired of, but nothing could be learned of any fire. Shortly after there were frequent flushes of lightning observed in the east and the afrecoled perceptibly, which gave rise to the theory that the was a storm in progress several miles from here and that lightning had either struck a barn on some high hill or one of the large oil tanks, holding thousands of barrels, in the Taylorstown field.

If correctly, I beg to remind the Doctor that modern science teaches that discases breed after their kind, and that diphtheria and scarlet fever do not arise from filth, but depend upon a specific germ for their origin, while they are simply male more malignant by unsanitary surroundings. It has been the good fortune of this city to escape visitation of the diseases named for several years. But let the disease once be planted in certain localities in this city and it will sweep all before it like a conflagration. One death from diphtheria was reported to-day. Owing to the intelligent preto day. Owing to the intelligent pre-cautions of the attending physician no

One death from cipatheria was reported to-day. Owing to the intelligent precautions of the attending physician no other cases have developed outside the family and only one in the family. Does not Dr. Campbell think it would be a wise precaution to remove the garbage thoroughly, and to clean up some of the back premises? Who, down in the lower end of the city, does not remember the epidemic of measles in the spring of 1886, from which in the month of April alone twenty-six children died.? Not one of those children should have died. I mean, had the principles of preventive medicine been applied before the disease came. For the desth of all those who die of symotic—or preventible—diseases, somebody is responsible.

Every man, therefore, who stands in the relation to the public of a conservator of the public health should feel his awful responsibility, and strive to perform honestly and conscientiously the duties of his office, lest the blood of innocents be upon his hands.

In conclusion, while I could enumerate scores of cities with populations varying from that of Wheeling to hundreds of thousands greater, which have a less mortality rate, I will content myself with calling attention to the city of Chicago as an example of what can be accomplished by careful attention to sanitation. Built upon a swamp, so great care has been exercised in the construction of sewers and prompt and complete removal of all city waste to remote distances by rull, strict isolation of all infectious and contagious diseases, and strict attention to the minimum. The rate of mortality for the month of June was 16 in one thousand of population per annum.

I can say, without fear of successful contaging the city is the death rate of the city has been reduced to the minimum. I can say, without fear of successful contradiction, that the death rate of Wheeling is not diminishing. Of this,
